

“Sound of the South” Summer Music and Leadership Camp

We are excited to offer face-to-face camps during Summer 2021!

COVID-19 and Summer Planning

Our Summer Music Camps will follow the guidelines and recommendations for best practices from the Centers for Disease Control and Troy University. The health and safety of our campers and staff is our primary concern.

Safety Protocols (may be adjusted as needed):

Check-In:

- There will be a maximum of two guests permitted with each camper at check-in.
- All persons attending check-in are encouraged to wear a mask.
- Social distancing will be encouraged throughout the check-in process.

Rehearsals:

- Bell covers and musician masks will be encouraged during rehearsals.
- Rehearsal blocks will include aerosol breaks at responsible intervals.
- Students are encouraged to bring their own equipment. No equipment will be shared between campers.
- Social distancing will be encouraged during all rehearsals and non-instructional time.
- Students must bring their own water container. Hand sanitizer will be provided and required prior to use of water refill stations.

Activities:

- Social distancing will be encouraged at all activities.
- Masks should be worn at all times during activities.
- Hand sanitizer will be provided and required when appropriate.
- Weather permitting, the majority of activities will take place outside.
- Detailed activities and corresponding protocols will be released prior to camp.

Meals:

- Troy University Dining Hall procedures will be followed to limit person-to-person contact.

Housing:

- For suite-style housing, capacity will be at 50%.
 - For example, four-bedroom suites will host two people, on opposite sides of the living area.
 - Each person within the suite-style housing will have access to their own bathroom.
- Students are expected to bring their own sheets and towels for the dorms. Information about bed sizes for each dorm building can be found at: <https://www.troy.edu/student-life-resources/housing/index.html>
- Each student will receive their own key to open and lock their individual room.
- Any parent or teacher who feels uncomfortable with the living arrangements may choose the “Commuter Rate” and stay at a local hotel (cost and transportation will be on your own).
