For those students without an economics background, you should review some basic economic principles online. A brief overview is available here:

<https://sites.google.com/site/economicsbasics/home>.

SUPPLEMENTAL READINGS: Additional readings for the course, including book chapters, journal articles, and other materials will be available in pdf file for download from Microsoft One Drive. Students will need to download the files and read the materials before class meetings. If you have any problems downloading the materials please email me at dapinkston@troy.edu.

OVERALL OBJECTIVES/ PURPOSE: Students will be introduced to a general background including the history and evolution of the theories, the institutions, and the issues surrounding the contemporary international political economy. The course will focus on trade, finance, development and contemporary IPE issues, and will analyze the role of the state and non-state actors including domestic political actors, domestic and international institutions, and multinational corporations.

PREREQUISITES: None

GRADING AND ASSIGNMENTS:

Participation in class discussions 15%
Canvas discussion 15%
Web-Enhanced assignment 20%
Final exam 50%

METHODS OF INSTRUCTION: Lectures, class discussion, and Canvas discussions.

CANVAS: The Troy University MSIR program uses the Canvas educational technology system for its courses. You will need to access Canvas to obtain some of the course reading materials. Departmental policy mandates use of discussion boards in Canvas. Accordingly, a series of questions will be posted in Canvas. Students must read all discussion boards and must respond to the discussion questions over the course of the term. Discussion posts will account for 15% of the course grade CLASS PARTICIPATION: Students are expected to do the readings before class and be prepared to discuss the contents. Participation in class discussions account for 15% of your grade.

WEB-ENHANCED PORTION: This course combines instruction inside and outside of the classroom. Troy requires 45 hours of instruction for a three-unit course. We will meet for a total of 36 hours in the classroom, so 9 contact hours must be covered outside of class through Canvas. The W-E portion in this course will consist of online discussions, viewing of videos, and a book review of Daniel W. Drezner, The System Worked: How the World Stopped Another Great Depression (Oxford University Press: January 2016). The book review should be approximately 1,000-1,500 words in length and will be due the last day of class (12 May).

FINAL EXAM: Department policy stipulates that every web-enhanced course must have a final exam no earlier than week 9 of a 9-week term. All written work, including final exams, must be given and graded in Canvas. Final exams must be in essay format. Students will select two or three questions to answer from a short list of up to five questions. The exam will be a take-home exam and will be due 18 May 2019.

STUDENT-INSTRUCTOR INTERACTION/COMMUNICATION: I do not have regular office hours but meetings are available by appointment before or after our class meetings at Osan. My office is at home. I will respond to your e-mails as quickly as I can., but if it is extremely urgent, or if you need to discuss something that cannot be addressed through e-mail, you can reach me by telephone. I am available by appointment for discussions by telephone or voice chat programs such as skype or whatsapp.

TROY UNIVERSITY DEADLINES: Students can find the Troy Online calendar at <https://my.troy.edu/online/academic-calendar.html>, which lists key dates for the term, including refund deadlines, payment dates, and Comp Exam dates. The deadline to drop Term 4 classes is April 26, 2019.

CLASS SCHEDULE: This schedule is subject to adjustment, and the instructor reserves the right to change the reading assignments if necessary. This is unlikely, but any changes will be made with sufficient time for students to complete the readings and assignments.

30 March (Saturday)

Introduction; historical and contending perspectives; domestic politics

Readings: Frieden, Lake, and Broz, Introduction, Part I and II, Kahler and Lake, Chapters 5-6.

31 March (Sunday)

Domestic politics (continued); production, trade, investment

Readings: Frieden, Lake, and Broz Part V, Part III

11 May (Saturday)

Finance; development; migration; regionalism/regionalization

Readings: Frieden, Lake, and Broz Part IV, Part VI, Part VII

12 May (Sunday)

Globalization; the environment; contemporary problems; regulatory regimes; sanctions; course review

Frieden, Lake, and Broz Part VIII; Kahler and Lake, Chapters 1-4, 8-10; Solingen; Stein.

ATTENDANCE POLICY: Attendance is mandatory. By university policy, the Troy coordinator must be notified if students miss more than 25% of classes.

INCOMPLETE GRADE POLICY: If a student requests an “INC”, he or she must submit to the instructor a signed Petition for and Work to Remove an Incomplete Grade form indicating the compelling reason for the “INC”. The instructor approving the request will document the required work and the deadline for completion. When the student completes the required work, the instructor will submit a Change of Grade form. In cases where a student fails to make up “INC” course work by the end of the next term in which they enroll, the “INC” will automatically be recorded as an “F” grade on the student’s record.

TROY UNIVERSITY DEADLINES: Students can find the Troy Online calendar at <https://my.troy.edu/online/academic-calendar.html> listing key dates for the term, including refund deadlines, payment dates, and Comp Exam dates. Note the last day to drop or withdraw from a course in Term 4 is April 26, 2019.

AMERICANS WITH DISABILITIES ACT (ADA): Troy University supports Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 and the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990, which insure that post-secondary students with disabilities have equal access to all academic programs, physical access to all buildings, facilities and events, and are not discriminated against on the basis of disability. Eligible students, with appropriate documentation, will be provided equal opportunity to demonstrate their academic skills and potential through the provision of academic adaptations and reasonable accommodations. Further information, including appropriate contact information, can be found at the following link: <https://my.troy.edu/student-disability-services/>

MOBILE PHONE AND OTHER ELECTRONIC DEVICE STATEMENT: Use of any electronic device (mobile phone, tablet, laptop, etc.) by students in the instructional environment is prohibited unless explicitly approved on a case-by-case basis by the instructor of record or by the Office of Disability Services in collaboration with the instructor. Mobile phones and other communication devices may be used for emergencies, however, but sending or receiving non-emergency messages during a class meeting is forbidden by the University. Use of a communication device to violate the Troy University “Standards of Conduct” will result in appropriate disciplinary action (see The Oracle for details on Standards of Conduct and academic integrity: https://my.troy.edu/oracle/assets/documents/2018-2019_Oracle.pdf). In order to receive emergency messages from the University or family members, devices must be in a vibration, or other unobtrusive mode. Students receiving calls that they believe to be emergency calls must answer quietly without disturbing the teaching environment. If the call is an emergency, they must move unobtrusively and quietly from the instructional area and notify the instructor as soon as reasonably possible. Students who are expecting an emergency call should inform the instructor before the start of the instructional period. The use of laptop computers in the classroom for this course is permitted.

STANDARDS OF CONDUCT: By their enrollment, students are responsible for following the “Standards of Conduct” as they apply in the Troy University Pacific Region. Students may be disciplined up to and including suspension and expulsion for the commission of offenses as described in the Graduate Bulletin. For details on University Standards of Conduct and academic integrity, see The Oracle:

https://my.troy.edu/oracle/assets/documents/2018-2019_Oracle.pdf. As a reminder to graduate students, the Standards of Conduct regards dishonesty as an offense, which includes cheating and plagiarism. Students should carefully study the definitions of cheating and plagiarism:

1. Cheating includes:

a) Copying, or relying upon, another student’s answers or submitting another student’s work as one’s own or submitting as new work assignments previously completed for another class, while completing any class assignment, study group assignment, or during in-class or take-home examinations.

b) Providing one’s own answers to another student while completing any class assignment, study group assignment (except where approved by the instructor due to the nature of the assignment itself), or during in-class or take-home examinations.

c) Using notes, books, or any other unauthorized aids during an examination; or holding an unauthorized discussion of answers during in-class examinations.

2. Plagiarism is submitting a paper, other required student course requirement in which the language, ideas, or thoughts are identical to published or unpublished material from another source, including material found on the Internet, without correctly giving credit to that source. While computers and the Internet allow students to cut and paste work from other material, new software is making it easier for universities to detect plagiarism. Instructors may screen electronic versions of student assignments using the detection software.

LIBRARY SUPPORT:

Students can access online information resources through Troy University web site at <http://my.troy.edu> or the Troy Library Services home page at <https://my.troy.edu/libraries/>. These resources include a variety of full text databases that provide complete article texts from thousands of journals, magazines and newspapers. Among the most helpful databases are JSTOR, Academic Search Complete, and Lexis-Nexis.
