TROY STATE UNIVERSITY AT DOTHAN RECEIVES ALABAMA HUMANITIES FOUNDATION GRANT

Troy State University at Dothan was recently the recipient of a major grant from the Alabama Humanities Foundation, a state program of The National Endowment for the Humanities. The Grant will be used to fund a symposium entitled Science/Technology and Human Values.

The symposium will consist of three programs presented by well-known scholars from the field of humanities. The speakers will address several topics including the necessity to examine and understand subjects such as genetic engineering, acid rain, technological domination and alienation.

The humanities scholars involved in the symposium were chosen not only for their distinction in a field of the humanities but also because of their ability to use an interdisciplinary approach in their presentation. Another selection criterion was their ability to communicate clearly and concisely, and as jargon free as possible, humanistic concerns to non-specialist audiences.

TSUD's acquisition of the grant was a result of a great deal of research and hard work by project director, Dr. Frank Lovrich, and the Humanities Committee. Committee members are: Dr. John Woodham,

Dr. Jack R. Sublette, Dr. Lawrence A. Brown, Dr. Alan Belches, Dr. Dorinda Van Loo, Dr. Pricilla McArthur and Dr. Frank Lovrich. Mrs. Gayle Oberst will handle the financial aspects of the project and Ms. Nanne McDonald will be in charge of publicity.

The symposium will be held at the Dothan Opera House with all programs beginning at 7:00 p.m.

It will be open to the public and there will be no admission charge. TSUD faculty and students are encouraged to attend.

This project is cosponsored by the ALABAMA HUMANITIES FOUNDATION, a state program of the THE NATIONAL ENDOWMENT FOR THE HUMANITIES.

ACADEMIC AND GRADUATE COUNCILS

During the Fall Quarter both the Academic and Graduate Councils approved the following policies:

1. Effective with the Spring Quarter 1988, all students completing graduation requirements will be required to complete a comprehensive examination in their degree programs. The examination given will be determined by the school or college in which the degree is offered. At the present time, the test results will not be used to determine whether a student is permitted to graduate but will be used for the purpose of evaluating programs and the instruction received in those programs.

2. There is no appeal of students' grades as assigned by the instructor of the course; however, the student reserves the right in certain instances to ask for re-classification on a particular grade assignment for a class if he feels as though he has sufficient evidence upon which to differ. In such a case where a student feels as though a grade has been incorrectly assigned, he has three (3) weeks at the beginning of the next quarter following the posting of the disputed grade in which to handle this. In order to question a posted grade, the student must first try to resolve this through the faculty member and department head prior to consulting with the Dean.

This newsletter will be printed twice quarterly and will include brief notes on information which students need to know. Contact Robin Wyatt to place announcements in THE NEWSLINE. A second effort toward improving communication is a program entitled "Rap with Robin." This is intended to be an informal discussion with students.
