TSUD SURPASSES ENROLLMENT RECORD

One year ago, Troy State University at Dothan set its all-time high enrollment at 2,033 students at both its Dothan and Fort Rucker campuses. Once again, and for the eighteenth consecutive quarter, TSUD has experienced an enrollment increase over the same quarter of the previous year. The 1992 Winter Quarter enrollment is 2,113 students, a 3.9 percent increase over the 1991 Winter Quarter figure.

Officials at TSUD are extremely pleased with the continuing increases in enrollment.

Dr. Frank Lovrich said, "Because of proration and inadequate funding for education, the university still has not been able to develop needed programs for the Wiregrass region." Lovrich went on to say, "The increase in enrollment indicates that the citizens of the Wiregrass recognize the importance of securing an education to prepare themselves for the increasingly competitive market place that they will find themselves in the remainder of this decade and the forthcoming century." "Higher education has never been a priority in this region, but people are realizing they need an education to compete in an emerging 'post industrial society' that stresses science, computer literacy, and interpersonal skills," he added.

Dr. Jack Sublette stated, "TSUD continues to strive to meet the needs of the non-traditional students. We offer flexible scheduling and quality academic programs."

TSUD EXPANSION IN FULL OPERATION

Because of substantial growth in enrollment and an increase in services, Troy State University at Dothan has moved the Continuing Education Program and the Center for Business and Economic Services (CBES) to Northside Mall. The University is currently occupying 16,000 square feet of the lower level of the mall for its Continuing Education Center. Some renovation has taken place to accommodate offices and classrooms, and new carpet and paint have been supplied for areas that were in need.

The CBES function provides research and public service to the Dothan community such as counseling, surveys, seminars, and workshops. Projects are not limited to Dothan and Houston County, but will be considered from northwest Florida and southwest Georgia.

The TSUD Continuing Education Center provides the University with the needed space to expand its course offerings in the Continuing Education program and, at the same time, allows for space to be made available on the Dothan campus for academic classes.

The available rooms at the Continuing Education Center also provide space for the overflow of academic classes on the TSUD campus.

During Winter Quarter 1992, some academic classes are meeting at the Continuing Education Center at Northside Mall.

In the past, the Continuing Education program has offered approximately 40 courses each quarter in the areas of personal development, professional development, computer, computer applications, real estate, and education.

With the expansion to Northside Mall, the Center has expanded its course offerings to approximately 80 courses. Significant increases have occurred in the areas of personal development, professional development, and computers.

RIBBON CUTTING HELD FOR TSUD FACILITY

Approximately sixty-five people were present for the Ribbon Cutting ceremony sponsored by the Dothan Area Chamber of Commerce recently to officially open the Troy State University at Dothan Continuing Education Center at Northside Mall.

For some University officials, this was a dream come true. Dave Shelman, Senior Vice President and Cashier and Marketing Director at SouthTrust Bank and Chairman of the TSUD Continuing Education Advisory Council, commented that this was the most exciting and worthwhile project he had been associated with in some time.

Ms. Ann Wells, Director of Continuing Education at TSUD, said, "It's been a dream of our staff to be able to operate a program in our own center. This expansion allows the program to increase to an operation that will best serve the needs of the Wiregrass area."

The Continuing Education program has grown from three courses in the mid-1970's to ninety-one courses for the 1992 Winter Quarter.

ANSELL MAKES CONTRIBUTION TO COMPUTER LAB

Troy State University at Dothan is currently accepting contributions to equip a twenty-station computer laboratory at the TSUD Continuing Education Center located at Northside Mall.

Mr. Ken Perrigen, Vice President Ansell-Alabama, and Ms. Shirley Gouge, Manufacturing Systems Administrator at Ansell, presented a $2,500.00 check to Dr. Thomas Harrison for assisting in the development of the state-of-the-art computer laboratory.

TSUD CAMPUS RECOGNIZED

The Dothan Beautification Board has recognized the campus of Troy State University at Dothan by honoring the University as a member of the Board's Honor Roll.

This honor is given to businesses or institutions that contribute to the appearance and character of Dothan through landscaping and beautification of their buildings and grounds.

TSUD INITIATES FUND DRIVE

The Continuing Education Program at Troy State University at Dothan is accepting contributions and pledges toward the establishment of a state-of-the-art computer laboratory for its new location at Northside Mall.

The computer laboratory will be equipped with twenty IBM computer stations and will offer the latest in technology and training.

In appreciation for contributions, a plaque bearing an individual's or a company's name will be displayed within the new computer laboratory.

For each $1,000 donation, the University will offer six hours of computer training to twenty employees of the contributing company at no cost.

For more information concerning contributions to the computer laboratory, contact Dr. Debbie Goodman at (205) 983-6556, extension 205 or Ms. Ann Wells or Mr. Ed Kirkland at (205) 712-0010.

DOTHAN MEETING FOCUSES ON TAX REFORM AND EDUCATION FUNDING PROBLEMS

Alumni and supporters of Alabama's public colleges and universities gathered in eight locations around the state during the month of January to hear a call for hands-on involvement in the tax reform movement. The area meetings began January 14 in Florence and concluded January 29 in Dothan, with intervening stops in Huntsville, Anniston, Selma, Birmingham, Montgomery and Mobile.

These meetings were part of the first unified campaign conducted by post-secondary and higher education institutions in more than 15 years. College and university officials advocate revenue-positive tax reform of the state tax structure to protect the quality of education in Alabama. The joint initiative is a response to the funding crisis that has forced layoffs, program terminations and double-digit tuition increases on campuses throughout Alabama.

The Council of College and University Presidents, an advisory body to the Alabama Commission on Higher Education, coordinated the unified effort.

Dr. Thomas Harrison, host president for the Dothan meeting, said, "I was pleased that the local meeting was well attended and I am encouraged by those present who joined with the more than 2,000 Alabamians who have already agreed to become actively involved in offering permanent solutions to the critical funding crisis facing Alabama."

Attendance at each meeting represented a broad cross-section of alumni and friends from all public colleges and universities in the state. The group heard from numerous presidents and chancellors, who addressed the education funding crisis and outlined strategies for public participation.

POOR BUT PROUD PRESENTATION AT TSUD

On Thursday, February 6, at 7:00 PM, Dr. Wayne Flynt, Hollifield Professor of Southern History at Auburn University, will speak at Troy State University at Dothan in the Multipurpose Room in Malone Hall.

Dr. Flynt has published seven books and numerous articles, served as chairman of the Department of History, Auburn University, from 1977 - 1985, and has traveled and researched extensively.

In Poor But Proud, Flynt addresses the life experiences of poor whites through their occupations, society, and culture. After examining each occupation in depth, he discusses family structure, folk culture (music, religion, folklore, and crafts), and the politics of poor whites and describes their attempts to resolve their own problems through labor unions and political movements. In addition to a wide variety of documentary sources, Flynt uses life and oral histories to give poor whites an opportunity to tell their own stories and provide vigorous, colorful illustrations.

Dr. Flynt and his wife will deliver a presentation of the book which was nominated for the Pulitzer Prize and entertain questions.

For further information, contact Ms. Charlotte Kirkland at extension 215.

ALABAMA ORDERED TO ELIMINATE SEGREGATION

A U.S. district court judge last month ordered the state of Alabama to devise a plan to eliminate the vestiges of racism in its public university system.

In his 1,000-page ruling, Judge Harold Murphy directed Alabama to spend $20 million over three years for building improvements at its two historically black universities, Alabama A&M and Alabama State, and called for the state to change its funding formulas to improve support for the two institutions.

The 10-year old case is similar to one heard by the Supreme Court in November involving the desegregation of Mississippi's higher education system. Mississippi was appealing the ruling of a lower court that said the state must upgrade its predominantly black institutions to eradicate the vestiges of segregation in its colleges and universities. The justices' decision in the Mississippi case affect future funding for historically black institutions not only in Mississippi and Alabama, but also in several other states that once had dual college systems.

In the Alabama case, Judge Murphy also ruled that:

Program duplication among the two black colleges and their neighboring white institutions must be eliminated.

Several predominantly white institutions, including the University of Alabama, Auburn University, Calhoun State Community College, Jacksonville State University, Troy State University, and the University of North Alabama, must hire additional black administrators.

Auburn University, Livingston University, and the University of Montevallo must add black faculty members.

Alabama State must seek to increase its white student body.
