STUDENTS COMPLETE COMPUTER PROGRAM

The TSUD Continuing Education program is meeting the needs of business professionals wishing to enhance their computer skills by offering the Microcomputer Certificate Program (MCP). To earn the certificate, students must complete 100 hours of computer instruction including six required core courses.

The first students to complete the certificate program are Kathy Simmons, Chipley; Sara Hayes, Daleville; and Edith Majors, Dothan.

Ms. Simmons is beginning a new job in January and said that the instructors for the courses were very patient and helpful. Ms. Hayes works at Twitchell Corporation as a system analyst for the mainframe. "We will be interfacing our PC's with the mainframe, and this certificate program has given me the chance to learn about PC's and become more comfortable with their operations," commented Hayes. Ms. Majors is self-employed and finds the WordPerfect and Lotus courses very helpful in her free-lancing operations.

Each student completing the MCP will be recognized at TSUD's Honors Convocation in the spring.
