UNVEILING CEREMONY HELD FOR TSUD LEADERS

Portraits of three key leaders of Troy State University at Dothan were unveiled during a ceremony in Malone Hall on the TSUD campus recently. Honored for their vision and leadership were Wallace D. Malone, Jr., President pro tempore of the Troy State University Board of Trustees, Robert M. Paul, TSUD's first president, and Dr. Thomas Harrison, TSUD's current president.

Opening remarks were provided by Mary Ellen Fleming, TSUD Student Government Association president, followed by the invocation delivered by Dr. Jerry Dooling, Senior Pastor, First United Methodist Church, Dothan. Mr. Pierce Flatt, CEO of SouthTrust Bank of Dothan and Chairman of the TSUD Advisory Board, served as master of ceremonies. Quoting the internationally known educator George Peabody, Flatt said, "Education is a debt due from the present to future generations." These three individuals we honor today have taken meaningful steps toward paying that debt," he added.

Dr. Jack Hawkins, Jr., Chancellor of the TSU System, recognized each honoree by offering remarks regarding the respective accomplishments to the development of TSUD.

Malone, in his response, stated, "Troy State has come a long way both in Dothan and as a system. Come back in five years and you will not believe what you see. TSUD will get larger and larger. It is now a major Dothan industry. In five to ten years, it will be one of the largest industries."

Joe Paul, son of the deceased first president, said, "I believe my father would be very proud for those who have taken his dreams and made TSUD what it is today." Mr. Paul began his service to Troy State College in 1961 when he became Director of the Fort Rucker Resident Center. Under Paul's direction, the program at Fort Rucker grew and in 1974 expanded to Dothan. By the time he retired in 1985, the operation at Dothan and Fort Rucker had received its own accreditation. Paul passed away in 1988. Present for the unveiling were his widow, Mrs. Bobbie Paul, and daughter, Betsy Lester.

Dr. Thomas Harrison commented that the success of TSUD can be traced to the care of the faculty and staff who serve the school. During Harrison's presidency since 1986, the first phase of construction of a new campus has been completed, the number of full-time faculty has increased by 27 percent, and student enrollment has increased by more than 46 percent. Harrison continues to work for the acquisition of additional facilities to meet the needs of the student population in the Wiregrass area. He expects TSUD to continue to move forward and reach new heights of academic respectability. Present for the ceremony were his wife, Sarah, and daughter and son-in-law, Lee Anne and Rodney Holland.

Dr. Jack Sublette, Executive Vice President and Vice President for Student Affairs and Development at TSUD, during the program's special tribute, said that the three honorees have provided all of the elements of Max DePree's formula for leadership — momentum, effectiveness, and inspiration for high values.
