TSUD SCHOOL OF BUSINESS RECEIVES NATIONAL RECOGNITION

Dr. John L. Green, Jr., Executive Director of the Association of Collegiate Business Schools and Programs (ACBSP), announced that 36 of the Association's member institutions were awarded accreditation of their business schools at the ACBSP Annual Conference in Minneapolis, June 20. Troy State University at Dothan was one of 20 new baccalaureate/graduate degree granting institutions to be awarded ACBSP accreditation. This represents the fourth annual presentation to institutions being accredited since the founding of ACBSP six years ago.

The mission of ACBSP is to strengthen business education in colleges and universities throughout the United States and establish quality in the teaching of business courses.

For institutions that achieve accreditation of their business schools and programs, ACBSP accreditation certifies that the teaching and learning processes within that institution are of high quality and meet the rigorous educational standards established by ACBSP. "Our students, once they complete their program of studies here, can approach employment opportunities in our region and be able to say that their degree is from an institution that compares to that of other quality institutions throughout the nation," stated Dr. Thomas Harrison, TSUD president.

Dr. Frank Lovrich, vice president for academic affairs, said, "It is always gratifying when an academic unit of the University achieves national accreditation, which means that the curriculum, programs, and faculty meet national standards. It assures students that they will receive a quality education comparable to that found at other nationally accredited schools of business throughout the United States."

SCHOOL OF EDUCATION RECEIVES ALABAMA POWER GRANT

The Alabama Power Foundation, Inc. has awarded a $10,000.00 grant to Troy State University at Dothan for the purpose of developing a Professional Development School Partnership between the TSUD School of Education and the Dothan and Ozark City School Systems. These schools will be members of a statewide coalition which will be directed by Auburn University. Joining TSUD as participants in the coalition are Auburn University in Montgomery, Jacksonville State University, and the University of South Alabama.

Schools involved in the TSUD coalition include: Cloverdale Elementary School, Heard Elementary School, Kelly Springs Elementary School, and Selma Street Elementary School in the Dothan City School System; and Lisenby Elementary School, Mixon Elementary School, and Thompkins Early Childhood Center in the Ozark City School System.

Mr. Charles Bowers, Wiregrass District manager for Alabama Power, and Mr. Roy Crow, vice president for the Southeast Division of Alabama Power, awarded the grant to TSUD president, Dr. Thomas Harrison and Dr. Betty Kennedy, dean of the School of Education. Also on hand for the grant presentation were Ozark City Schools superintendent, Dr. John H. "Pete" Mosley, and Dr. Don Musselman, superintendent for Dothan City Schools.

In her remarks regarding the implementation of the grant, Kennedy said, "We are committed to the Professional Development School, which is formed by a school/university partnership. It is a successful strategy that has been implemented in many areas of the country. This concept involves forming a partnership between a school system and a teacher preparation program. Teacher educators and future teachers are able to ground classroom theory in practice by getting real world and real classroom experience. Classroom teachers, in turn, get the benefit of university research and expertise. Two fundamental purposes are served by the partnership: (1) school faculty and administrators understand and learn from the university culture; and (2) university faculty and administrators understand and learn from the school culture."

The Professional Development School Partnership enables students and interns at TSUD to observe, on a regular basis, classroom interaction, techniques, and methods used by the practicing teacher. In turn, students and interns are able to interact with the practicing teacher and learn not only to link theory with practice, but also to extend to the practicing teacher innovative instructional methods learned in the university course work. "We are on the cutting edge of creating a collaborative spirit that demonstrates the mutual respect for each other's knowledge and expertise. The ones to benefit most are the young students in the elementary schools who are reaping the rewards of energetic and innovative classroom instruction," stated Kennedy.

GOLDSMITH PARTICIPATES IN EVALUATION PROCESS

Dr. Donald Goldsmith, professor of mathematics, was selected to participate in the annual reading and scoring of Advanced Placement Examinations in COMPUTER SCIENCE.

Each year the AP Program, sponsored by the College Board, gives hundreds of thousands of capable high school students an opportunity to take rigorous college-level courses and examinations and, based on their exam performance, to receive credit and/or advanced placement when they enter college.

More than 695,000 examinations in 16 disciplines were evaluated by over 2,800 faculty consultants from high schools and universities across the United States. Drawn from various ethnic groups and from nearly every state, these men and women are some of the best high school and college educators in the country. Many represent some of the finest academic institutions in North America. In addition, faculty consultants from Germany and Japan participated in the program.

FACULTY/STAFF-STUDENT MENTOR PROGRAM

Be a part of something special!

The TSUD Mentor Program was initiated during Summer Quarter 1994. Thus far 38 mentees have been assigned to 32 faculty and staff participating in the program. It has been most successful according to mentors. At a brown bag luncheon of mentors on June 30, mentors were pleased with their initial contacts with students. Students had responded very positively, and mentors had encountered no problems working with students; in fact, some indicated that their mentees probably would require very little time and asked that additional mentees be assigned.

Presently, there are 40 more mentee-mentor requests to be filled for Summer Quarter 1994. These will be assigned within the next few weeks.

Faculty and staff interested in participating in the program should contact Charlotte Kirkland, extension 215, to inquire about mentor training. We will need more mentors, and being a mentor is one of the most positive things you can do for TSUD students.

The AP Reading is one of the few settings in which dialogue between school and college educators is strongly encouraged. "The AP Reading is the ideal environment for high school teachers and college faculty to exchange ideas and foster professionalism within the discipline," said Dr. Wade Curry, AP Program Director at the College Board. "At a time when the nation is focusing on ways to ensure and improve quality in education, it is vital to recognize the contributions of educators like Dr. Goldsmith, who is making a commitment to education and following it through."

CPA COURSE AVAILABLE

The School of Business accounting department is pleased to announce its new CPA review course. This course will help participants to prepare for their Certified Public Accounting (CPA) exam. This intensive course is structured to help participants review, analyze and organize materials for the CPA examinations. Classes will start September 10 through October 31, 1994. For more information call the TSUD Continuing Education Center at 712-0010 or Dr. Khamis Bilbeisi, extension 269.

NEW TELEPHONE AREA CODE FOR ALABAMA

Starting January 14, 1995, Alabama will have a new area code. 334 will be the area code for the southern half of the state. This will include Montgomery, Troy, Dothan, and Phenix City.

The northern part of the state will continue to use 205. There will be a four to six month transition which will allow telephone users to become accustomed to the new area code.

Please keep this new code in mind as you begin to order new stationary, business cards, and promotional materials.

NEWS FROM THE TSU SYSTEM

From Montgomery . . .

Dr. Kline W. Johnson, vice president for student affairs at Troy State University Montgomery, will retire effective August 31. "Dr. Johnson's distinguished service to this institution has extended over the past 23 years, and he will be greatly missed by our staff, faculty and the students," said TSUM President Dr. Glenda S. McGaha. "He is a valuable part of the history of our university, and he has shared freely his wealth of information and knowledge with all of us who have later become a part of TSUM," she added.

Dr. Johnson came to TSUM in 1971 as the first director of student affairs and assistant professor of counseling. He later was named dean and has served as a vice president for the past nine years. He also has been involved in the instructional program at TSUM and has served as director of graduate administration since 1977. He has taught as an associate professor in the areas of graduate counseling and psychology and undergraduate sociology and has been the only coordinator for the graduate program in school psychometry.

During his tenure at TSUM, Dr. Johnson has been involved at the local, state and national levels in many professional activities and is the only person to have served three times as national president of the honor society Gamma Beta Phi. He received the society's highest award, "The Certificate of Merit," in 1983. Dr. Johnson received his Bachelor of Arts from Auburn University, a Master's in Religious Education with a major in counseling from New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary, and a Doctorate of Education with a major in counseling from Auburn University. Post doctoral studies include Indiana University's study abroad program at the University of Edinburgh, the University of Vermont, and the University of British Columbia.

TROJAN FOOTBALL SEASON TICKETS

Last year's Trojan football team burst onto the Division I-AA scene and marched to the semifinals of post-season play. This season, with many returning players in starting positions, TSU is again a contender. The Trojans play four home games this fall. The cost of the season ticket for these four home football games is only $20.00. The cost of these same tickets on game day will be $51.00. A TSU System employee can buy as many season tickets as needed at $20.00 each.

Consider organizing Tail-Gate Socials for your department, division, or campus organization. This is a great way to include your family with the TSUD family in a TSU System activity. For more information, contact Tony Whetstone at ext. 217.

ELECTRONIC LIBRARIES -- WHEN?

"Gallons of ink have been used to speculate on the future of libraries. Articles describe libraries -- their contents scanned and digitized -- reduced to the touch of a computer keyboard. The growth and availability of information in electronic formats, the accessibility of the Internet, and the ease of use of technology are all touted as replacing the traditional library. For some, libraries are viewed as virtual entities: they will be everywhere but exist nowhere.

The truth of the matter is that neither the virtual library nor ease of finding and using electronic information has a basis in today's reality. Despite glowing articles about the Information Highway and digitized information, MOST of the world's information is not accessible electronically. Much of what is available via networks has been placed there by librarians and represents tools to find content in print rather than the content itself. Finding the limited amount of available electronic information is a chaotic chore, due to lack of organization and standardization among networks.

While electronic information is described as the wave of the future, UNESCO recently reported that 850,000 new publications were issued worldwide in 1991. Electronic information is expected to dominate publishing eventually, but this is expected to take at least 20 years. Very few historical items are being transferred to electronic format.

Adequate library collections, the familiar bound books stored in rows of book stacks, remain essential for effective education and research. While the electronic revolution has begun to change the way researchers identify and locate information, the majority of information is still found primarily in print format in traditional libraries.

"Print remains the dominant medium for dissemination of new information and the dominant medium for information storage." (Network of Alabama Academic Libraries, May 1994).

My most sincere thanks to the Library staff, Courtesy Committee, and friends of the TSUD family for the wonderful reception, cards, and gifts due to my recent marriage. It was certainly a surprise that I will always remember in my heart.

Mary Butler-McCruter

We would like to express how much we appreciate the beautiful frame for Joshua. It's a gift that will last a lifetime. Thank you for your thoughtfulness in giving this gift.

Thomas and Felicia Anderson

The family of Elenora B. Long acknowledges with grateful appreciation your kind expression of sympathy. Your card and donation made to St. Patrick's Catholic Church in North Little Rock in memory of my mother are greatly appreciated.

Robert J. Long

Thank you so much for your many kind thoughts, cards, and donations given in memory of my grandmother. She was a very special lady, and she was glad that I am working with such a special group of people.

Jan Gunnels

Thanks to all of you (the TSUD family) for the fine, professional support you've provided through the years. The success of the SDE program reviews, SACS reaffirmation self-study and the NCATE accreditation process could not have been successful without your commitment to our success. Because of our collaborative efforts, our students, the region, and the profession will benefit. I look forward to remaining active in the profession and being of service to the University and other institutions but at a slower pace. Best wishes for the future of TSUD.

Betty J. Kennedy
