TSUD KICKS OFF 10 YEAR CELEBRATION

Dr. Thomas Harrison, TSUD president, serves the first piece of anniversary cake to Sharon Williams Chambers, one of the first students to receive a bachelor's degree after TSUD became independently accredited. Ms. Chambers currently serves as an adjunct instructor at TSUD.

The year 1995 marks the tenth anniversary of independent accreditation by the Commission on Colleges of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools for Troy State University at Dothan.

Recently, on the TSUD campus, university officials, along with Dothan Mayor Alfred Saliba and Houston County Commission Chairman Robert Crowder, designated the year 1995 as a year of celebration and outlined activities that will occur throughout the months ahead.

Until 1985, TSUD shared in the accreditation of The Troy State University System. In response to a recommendation from the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools (SACS), and in recognition of the fact that this administrative structure was resulting in severe underfunding of the Dothan/Ft. Rucker campuses at the state level, the TSU Board of Trustees made a critical decision. In June 1981, then TSU president, Dr. Ralph Adams, signed Resolution #10 authorizing the Dothan and Ft. Rucker branches to seek independent accreditation. The task to accomplish that goal fell to Mr. Robert Paul, vice president of TSU Dothan/Ft. Rucker, whose leadership transformed a branch operation into an independently accredited institution through the stages of candidacy, self-studies, reports, and a peer review from SACS.

Independent regional accreditation was granted in December 1985. From that time on, Dothan had its own university focused on the needs, goals, and citizens of this city and of the Wiregrass region. Independent accreditation accompanied ten years of growth in enrollment, programs, and economic impact of TSUD on the community.

During 1995, TSUD has planned activities, large and small, which will involve faculty, staff, students, alumni, friends in business, industry, and community organizations. The 10th anniversary theme will be repeated regularly throughout TSUD's scheduled events such as commencements and convocations.

Dr. Thomas Harrison said, "This 10th anniversary celebration will reinforce the internal bonds which make TSUD the strong and innovative institution that it is and reforge the external bonds which will propel this university and community into the 21st century."

On hand for the reception after the press conference were Dr. Wyatt Grimmer, former vice president for academic affairs at TSUD, and several faculty and staff members who were involved in the accreditation activities in 1985.

It Is A Small World After All!

The wealth of knowledge in the world is multiplying at a rapid pace. It's almost mind-boggling to think of all the information that can be accessed, no matter if you are in the Fargo Public Library or in the National Library of Education in Copenhagen. No one place can be the repository of this vast information explosion, so we must become a member of the worldwide community of learning to be able to take advantage of this infinite and ever growing body of knowledge.

Accessing information can be done locally the old fashioned way by using the manual finger driven card catalog, or the thumb driven bound periodical indexes. Techies can try the Bibliofile computerized catalog to access all TSU System books, the Infotrac terminals accessing 1500 journal titles, or the ERIC database, accessing education journals and documents. The more inquisitive may utilize the fee-based DIALOG INFORMATION SERVICE with a librarian in the driver's seat.

You can then become a member of the global information community at TSUD by requesting books or articles on interlibrary loan. The TSUD Library is part of a network of over 20,000 participating libraries in 61 countries and can immediately access the holdings of over 29 million records in this database of books, periodicals, and other mediums. Interlibrary loan requests may be submitted and the item shipped the same day!

TSUD may borrow an item from another TSU campus, or NASA may borrow an item from TSUD. So if our library doesn't have it, ask how you can get it!
