NEWSLETTER FOR TSUD FACULTY AND STAFF

TSUD: Preparing for the Future

As the world prepares for the 21st century, officials at Troy State University Dothan announced that they are also looking ahead and preparing a plan that will best meet the higher education needs of citizens from Dothan and the Wiregrass area. During a press conference on the TSUD campus, the TSUD Strategic Plan "Toward a New Century of Service" was unveiled, and plans were discussed regarding the future of the University.

For the past six months, TSUD has been heavily involved in a strategic planning process relying on internal and external data gathered by TSUD personnel, community leaders, and representatives from the Alabama legislature and the Alabama Commission on Higher Education. The Strategic Planning Committee, chaired by Dr. Glenda Curry, president of Troy State University Montgomery, worked with TSUD Interim President Doug Patterson to develop a plan to guide TSUD as the institution moves toward the year 2000. The planning committee was unique in that membership included state senators and a state representative in addition to a TSU Board of Trustees member, TSUD faculty, staff, and student representative, members of the Wiregrass business community, and the Alabama Commission on Higher Education. Also serving as a member of the committee was Dr. Larry Beaty, president of Wallace College Dothan. To the knowledge of university officials, this is the first time such a diverse group has worked together in service to a state university's planning effort in Alabama.

Dr. Curry said, "In these times of budget cuts and limited resources, institutions of higher education must be able to make wise decisions regarding their missions and the clientele they serve. Too many institutions are trying to be all things to all people. This plan charts a course for TSUD that will lead it into the 21st century. TSUD, a complementary part of The TSU System, is a major player in the economic development and quality of life in the Wiregrass region."

Eight subcommittees identified 186 internal and external factors which could affect TSUD. From these factors, 14 planning assumptions were developed. The planning assumptions were refined to nine strategies to be used at all institutional levels to determine objectives for the next three-year planning cycle. From the nine strategies, some 38 specific strategic objectives have been identified for inclusion in the TSUD Strategic Plan.

Tree Dedicated to Dr. Shoaf

Faculty and staff members gathered on a brisk afternoon ceremony to dedicate a living memorial to Dr. Mary Eve Shoaf, who passed away March 31, 1995. Dr. Jack Sublette, in his remarks during the ceremony, said, "It was the hallmark of her life that Dr. Shoaf gave of herself in all situations. Now it is our turn. It is fitting that we plant a living memorial to one of our dear colleagues who, although she is gone in body, shall remain with us always."

The strategic planning process will bring TSUD to a strong future, and this future is captured in the vision statement "Toward a New Century of Service - A Vision of TSUD in 1999."

Mr. Charles Nailen, Jr., past chairman of the Dothan Area Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors, commented, "Cooperation is the key to establishing stability and promoting a progressive future for a growing and dynamic region as we have here in Dothan. It's been with enthusiasm that I have involved myself with the strategic planning process for this institution. TSUD is one of the major jewels in the crown of the Wiregrass that will be instrumental in moving our region forward into the next millennium. I have been an advocate of TSUD for quite some time, and I am confident that this institution is a vital part of the development of this region. I look forward to witnessing the accomplishments of this University set forth by the TSUD Strategic Plan."

Senator Chip Bailey, a member of the TSUD Strategic Planning Committee, said, "I have been pleased to be involved in the work of the planning committee, and I believe that this commitment to quality will work to benefit the greater Wiregrass area. I am pleased with the plan and all it stands for in regard to the economic development and the improved quality of life for citizens of southeast Alabama."

Dr. Larry Beaty, president of Wallace College Dothan and a member of the Committee, said, "I was pleased to participate in the process. This plan will lead to improved relationships between Wallace College and TSUD and will also promote improved services in higher education for the Wiregrass region. It is especially positive that TSUD included several individuals outside TSUD."

TSUD has a good, solid mission with a definite role to play in the future of Dothan and the Wiregrass area. The economic development of the Wiregrass depends on increasing the number of students who have college education—associate, bachelor's, and graduate degrees are more and more becoming requirements for employment. Continuing education is becoming a significant part of the educational enterprise. "What the Wiregrass area needs, and what it has in TSUD, is a creative, flexible, and responsive institution that is sensitive to the economic development needs of the community," stated Dr. Doug Patterson, TSUD interim president. There are very few higher educational needs voiced by the community that cannot be met.

New Honor Society to Begin Spring Quarter

TSUD has been approved for a charter of Pi Gamma Mu, the national honorary society for the social sciences. A charter installation and initiation ceremony will be held during the spring quarter.

In addition to the honor of being selected, Pi Gamma Mu offers an excellent scholarship program for student members. Nationally competitive scholarships of $1,000 and $2,000 are offered for the first year of graduate study. Membership also qualifies graduates for a two pay grade acceleration for most federal government positions. Pi Gamma Mu also provides a scholarship medal for the best graduating senior and a small grant program for chapters to sponsor on-campus speakers.

To be eligible for membership a student must:

- Have completed at least 90 quarter hours of course work overall;
- Be in the upper 35% of his or her class;
- Have completed 30 quarter hours in social science courses (history, political science, economics, sociology/anthropology, international relations, social psychology, criminal justice or geography);
- Have a "B" average or better in all social science courses;
- Have no failing grade in a social science course.

Graduate students and faculty/staff are also eligible for membership.

The lifetime membership fee is $30. The membership fee covers a membership certificate, a gold-plated key or pin, and a subscription to International Social Science Review and the Pi Gamma Mu Newsletter.

News from The TSU System

NASM Grants Accreditation to TSU Music Department

The National Association of Schools of Music voted to grant a five-year accreditation to the Troy State University music education department. The Commission voted to grant accreditation for the department's undergraduate degrees in music education degree and its graduate degrees in music education.

The two basic procedures for membership in NASM are institutional self-study and peer evaluation.

The next NASM evaluation for accreditation is scheduled for the 2000-01 academic year.

TSUM Welcomes New Deans

Troy State University Montgomery welcomed two new academic deans at a reception held in the Civic Room of Troy State's Whitley Hall. Freda Hartman, professor of management, was welcomed as Dean of the Business Division, and Don Thompson, professor of counseling and psychology, as Dean of the Counseling, Education and Psychology Division. Dr. Hartman replaces Dr. John Tarver who returned to a full-time faculty position and Dr. Thompson steps into the position formerly occupied by Dr. Dale Martin, who has retired from TSUM.

Dr. Glenda Curry, president of Troy State University Montgomery, welcomed guests to the reception by saying, "This evening, and the opportunity to welcome two new deans, is another exciting step in this university's move toward our vision for the future."

Over one hundred faculty, staff and students from the university attended the reception. Others in attendance included Dr. Betty Anderson, dean, School of Education, Troy State University Dothan; Roy Boudreaux, representing Mayor Folmar; Carol Braswell; Patty Simpkins; Lee Sims; Robert Brown; Michael Harbin; Gerald White, and Bob McGough.

Library News

by Julia Smith, assistant library director

This month we highlight a little-known but useful resource found in the TSUD Library Reference Room entitled HISTORIC DOCUMENTS. Published by Congressional Quarterly, Inc. since 1972, the series includes reports, speeches, statements, court decisions, etc. on topics of national and international interest in a given year. Many of the documents contain the full text. In 1994, for example, the annual volume included the State Department Report on Human Rights in China (1/94), the Senate Report on the Gulf War Syndrome (5/94), and the Oregon Ballot Measure on Physician Assisted Suicide (11/94), just to name a few. The volumes are issued annually and are an excellent reference source for scholars or for citizens wishing to be better informed.

Two new books recently added to the Library collection should be of interest to our higher education community. A book of essays, HIGHER LEARNING IN AMERICA, 1980-2000, edited by Arthur Levine, covers such timely topics as "The Economy and Higher Education", and "Diversity on Campus." Another title which might be useful is THE COURAGE TO INQUIRE: IDEALS AND REALITIES IN HIGHER EDUCATION. Thomas Ehrlich, the former President of Indiana University, reflects on his years of experience and what they have taught him about life and higher education. You may ask for these books at the Circulation Desk of the Library.
