

German Student Group visited the Confucius Institute at Troy University

On March 20, 2015, a group of 19 German students from two colleges in Germany visited the Confucius Institute at Troy University (CIT). CIT faculty and staff introduced them the development of CIT and its promotion of Chinese language and culture since its founding in 2007. The group visited the CIT language lab, library, conference room and cultural exhibition center with the guided tour of CIT staff. Some students showed great interest in Chinese cultural items. This visit enhanced their understanding of the role and mission of the Confucius Institute and traditional Chinese culture.

The student group are the participants of a two-week long exchange program between Germany and the U.S.A.

