

Confucius Institute at Troy University Organized China Trip for Artist 2016

On May 17, 18 Artist from the local community embarked on a once in a lifetime adventure. Troy University's Confucius Institute and The Johnson Center for the Arts teamed up for a cultural experience like none other. The group went on 2-week tour through some of China's most historic sites. To include, but limited to the Terra Cotta Warrior exhibit in Xi An, as well as, the historic gardens of Suzhou. The group also visited national monuments like, Tiananmen Square and the Summer palace. The group was consistently reminded of the deep rich cultural history of the many different Chinese dynasties. One of the highlights for this group was rickshaw ride through the 600 years old district of Beijing, the nation's current capital.

