

CIT Joined 31st Zonta International Food Festival

On Mar. 10, 2018, CIT staff from Dothan Campus and Troy Campus joined 31st Zonta International Food Festival. Zonta aims to arouse the public's concern about women's legitimate rights and interests and raise funds for women in distress. As an active participant in community public welfare, the Confucius Institute at Troy University was invited to this event for two consecutive years.

Diners visited each booth. The various delicacies from over 50 countries and areas around the world kept their eyes fully occupied. Visiting scholars from CIT dressed in traditional Chinese costumes, enthusiastically distributed food for everyone and introduced China's diverse diet culture. People tasted dumplings, spring rolls, interacted with the lovely panda and appreciated festival Chinese knots and vigorous calligraphy. All these made the atmosphere hot. After the event, the organizing committee and diners from other countries came to the China Food Exhibition Booth to praise the Confucius Institute at Troy University for providing the food and culture feast for the public.
