SCHOLARSHIP & RESEARCH ACTIVITIES

My research mainly focuses on eco- and sustainable tourism, community development through tourism, tourism planning and global issues in tourism. I am interested in tourism science, niche tourisms, tourism pedagogies, human community and social ecologies, stakeholder analysis, outdoor recreation, recreation ecology, spirituality, and food security. I utilize tools such as resilience thinking within coupled social-ecological systems, complexity science, sustainability science and network analysis in my investigations.

RESEARCH PROJECTS

- 2015-present The Harrington Graded School as an African-American Gullah-Geechee cultural preservation and heritage tourism site
- 2014-present A local/regional tourism community assets assessment and resource audit for Da Nang, Vietnam.
- 2014 Travel motivations for a short-term mission trip to Ecuador.
