Instructions: Each time you do your intern hours you should record your hours. You should have a set place where you keep your hours whether it is with you or your mentor. At the end of the semester, you and your supervisor should meet and agree whether or not you have completed your hours. Upon agreement you should write a paragraph about what you have done for the past semester. The reason we ask that you record your hours each time you work is so that it will make it easier for you and your supervisor to agree that you have completed your hours.
