

OPPORTUNITIES FOR PARTNERING WITH THE ACF STAKEHOLDERS

A Short Briefing to the ACFS – Executive Committee

Why a Partnership?

- We want to be a part of the solution
- Invaluable learning experience for our students, many of whom are and will be ACF stakeholders
- Well situated w/ diverse expertise and “no dog in the fight”
- History of our universities working together

Water Resources Reform and Development Act of 2014

- “... the Committees of jurisdiction strongly urge the Governors of the affected States to reach agreement on an interstate water compact as soon as possible, & we pledge our commitment to work with [FL, AL, GA] to ensure prompt consideration & approval of any such agreement. “

Brief of the U.S. Solicitor General

- “Florida’s complaint alleges a controversy sufficient to involve the court’s original jurisdiction.
- The court should postpone equitable apportionment proceedings until the Corps of Engineers completes its revision of the Master Manual for the ACF River Basin.”
