MEETING DATES: June 3-4; 17-18 (0900-1800).

AVAILABILITY: By e-mail/Blackboard; before/after class; by mutually convenient appointment.

COURSE DESCRIPTION: This course provides an examination of diplomacy in International Relations, viewed from both theoretical and practical perspectives. Topics will include fundamentals in the practice of statecraft, including negotiation and conflict resolution, and the difference between public and private diplomacy, ethics and morality in diplomacy, and the continually evolving nature of diplomatic practices.

OVERALL OBJECTIVE: This course examines the two sets of guidelines which structure foreign policy decision-making in a diplomatic environment: the rational basis of strategic diplomacy; and the normative basis of international society. Diplomacy is the term given to the official channels of communication employed by the members of a system of states, and increasingly to unofficial channels of communication and actors. This course aims to give the student a thorough grounding in both the theory and practice of competing diplomatic paradigms. Conflict is an inevitable outcome of interaction between actors with competing hierarchies of preferred outcomes, particularly in the international context where there is no overarching authority to help resolve collective actions problems and reconcile conflicting interests. Thus, traditionally, diplomacy has been pursued in order to secure the national interest of states in a hostile operating environment. Primarily national interest is taken to mean national security and economic wellbeing. The diplomat therefore acts in ways determined most likely to secure these things, and to structure the decision-making of others, whether through threats, promises, coercion, deterrence, balancing, appeasement, etc. Yet at the multilateral level, diplomacy becomes more of a collective or conference activity. Here the focus shifts to good governance, the resolution of conflicting interests through peaceful means, and the generation of the collective good. Finally, track two and track three diplomacy, as well as public diplomacy, have seen an increase in non-state-centric actors and roles. Upon completion of IR 5542, the student should understand the theoretical and practical methods of implementation of diplomatic techniques.

SPECIFIC OBJECTIVES: Upon completion of the course, the student should be able to demonstrate an understanding of:

1. Conceptual frameworks for analyzing diplomatic practices/statecraft;
2. An understanding of problems prevalent in the international arena;
3. A broader repertoire of negotiation strategies and skills;
4. A deeper understanding of how to work with conflict;
5. Rational and normative diplomatic constraints;
6. Confidence in their own negotiating, presentation and strategic interaction skills;
7. Improved analytical and research skills;
8. Improved oral and written communication skills;
9. Confidence in their ability to convey an understanding of the complex forces shaping contemporary international diplomacy.

WEB ENHANCED ELEMENTS

A 3 credit course requires 45 contact hours. Class meetings cover 36 of these hours, so 9 additional hours must be accounted for via Blackboard. To meet this 9 hours, this course includes the following: discussion board posts (3 hours), and review of instructor slides/lectures posted on Blackboard (6 hours).

GRADE SCALE:

A:	90-100
B:	80-89
C:	70-79
D:	60-69
F:	0-59

ATTENDANCE POLICY: Each enrolled student is expected to attend ALL class sessions. Students should complete the assigned readings BEFORE the relevant class session. NOTE: Excessive absences may result in either a failing grade or the need for the student to drop the course.

MAKE UP POLICY: In exceptional cases (for example, medical/family emergencies, official duty requirements, TDY/TAD, etc.) an Authorized Absence may be permitted upon consultation with the Instructor. In these situations, the student MUST as soon as possible meet with the instructor to complete a comprehensive review of the missed material. Unauthorized Absences will require the mandatory review of the missed material, and may also adversely affect final grades.

LIBRARY RESOURCES: Students can access online information resources through Troy Library Services home page at <https://www.library.troy.edu>

These resources include a variety of full databases that provide complete article texts from thousands of journals, magazines and newspapers to aid students in their original research for class participation, presentations, and final research project.

In addition, where necessary the Instructor will provide additional readings if they cannot be accessed through the Troy Library Service.

Students are advised to read widely (beyond the set texts) and keep up to date on current affairs through multiple news media.

AMERICANS WITH DISABILITY ACT (ADA)

Troy University, under the guidelines of ADA and the Rehabilitation Act, makes reasonable accommodations for documented physical and mental limitations of otherwise-qualified individuals with disabilities. To provide the best possible services to students, employees, and visitors, Troy University has designated Disability Services Coordinators and Human Resources representatives on each campus as responsible parties for coordinating accommodations for persons with disabilities. For more information about physical access to building or grounds, academic or workplace accommodations, or other ADA related services, individuals should contact a Disability Services Coordinator or Human Resources representative on their campus of attendance. Specific information regarding the ADA, including contact information for responsible parties, can be found at the following link:

<http://trojan.troy.edu/employees/humanresources/documents/ADAPolicy2003.htm>

CELL PHONE AND OTHER ELECTRONIC DEVICE STATEMENT: Use electronic devices (phone, tablet, laptop, etc.) by students in the instructional environment is prohibited unless explicitly approved on a case-by-case basis by the instructor of record or by the Office of Disability Services in collaboration with the instructor. Cell phones and other communication devices may be used for emergencies, however, but sending or receiving non-emergency messages during a class meeting is forbidden by the University. Use of a communication device to violate the Troy University “Standards of Conduct” will result in appropriate disciplinary action (See pp. 42-52 of the Oracle.)

In order to receive emergency messages from the University or family members, devices must be in a vibration, or other unobtrusive mode. Students receiving calls that they believe to be emergency calls must answer quietly without disturbing the teaching environment. If the call is an emergency, they must move unobtrusively and quietly from the instructional area and notify the instructor as soon as reasonably possible. Students who are expecting an emergency call should inform the instructor before the start of the instructional period.

ACADEMIC ETHICS: Details of “Ethical Standards of Reporting Information” can be found in the PUBLICATIONS MANUAL of the AMERICAN PSYCHOLOGICAL ASSOCIATION. Troy University’s “Standards of Conduct,” published in the TROY UNIVERSITY GRADUATE CATALOGUE, also should be consulted by students.

REQUIREMENTS FOR STUDENT RESEARCH PROJECT

1. Each enrolled student will complete a graduate level research paper of 4-6,000 words of double-spaced text with appropriate citations and bibliography not included in the word count.
2. Use the PUBLICATIONS MANUAL OF THE AMERICAN PSYCHOLOGICAL ASSOCIATION as your style guide for format and citations.
3. Papers are due 23 July 2017, 17:00 Korea/Japan time.
4. During the first class students will select a theme for their project.
5. The final Written Report will address a comprehensive critical case study of international diplomacy including descriptive, predictive and prescriptive analysis.
6. The Topic of the final Written Report must be cleared with the Instructor by the first week of classes, via e-mail or before, during or after session # 4.
7. During the appropriate student-led seminar each student will give an Oral and Visual/Multimedia Report lasting 30 minutes. During these seminars each presenter will be open to questions from their peers. Students will be well advised to encourage and to take advantage of these Q&A sessions in order to gain feedback for their final Written Report
8. Student must complete a substantial amount of reading before the first class session in order to be able to discuss contemporary diplomatic cases and to benefit from feedback on their proposed research projects.
