GROWTH TREND CONTINES FOR TSUD

Troy State University at Dothan and its Fort Rucker location have again experienced significant growth in student enrollment for the 1993 Spring Quarter. Enrollment figures stand at 2,153, a 1.3 percent increase over the 1992 Spring Quarter. This marks twenty-three consecutive quarters of increased enrollment at TSUD.

SELF HELP UPDATE

InfoTrac’s Expanded Academic Index is now available for patron use in the TSUD Library. This new addition was made possible through funds provided by the SELF HELP FUND DRIVE held recently among TSUD employees. The Expanded Academic Index on CD-ROM gives the patron access to journal citations for approximately 1500 journals in the humanities, social sciences, and science & technology fields. Indexing for the current 6 months of the New York Times is also provided. Short abstracts are included for many of the citations. The majority of the journals can be searched from 1985 to the present. Information is updated monthly by Information Access Company. Citations selected are easily printed for further use. The system is very user-friendly and offers a variety of search strategies, including Boolean searching. Stop by the TSUD Library and try it out for yourself!

TSUD COMMUNITY BAND TO PERFORM

The TSUD Community Band will be performing its Spring Concert at First Presbyterian Church in Dothan at 2:30 p.m., Sunday, May 23. The concert will consist of several Broadway medleys, marches, and an outstanding medley of favorite Tennessee tunes. Admission is free, and the public is invited to attend.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT

Use it or lose it: In the last quarter of 1991, the University of North Carolina at Asheville did not spend its entire $3 million state appropriation. So authorities sent back what was left in the form of a check. The total: $1.34.

REPORT SHOWS STATE FUNDING DOWN ACROSS THE NATION

Inflation and budget cuts have resulted in $7.2 billion in lost state higher education appropriations since 1990, a new report shows. Mid-year budget cuts account for $1.83 billion of the losses, while drops in funding below the amount required to cover inflation totaled $5.41 billion during the three-year period, the American Association of State Colleges and Universities (AASCU) found in its budget and fiscal study, REPORT OF THE STATES.

Tuition boosts last fall were largest in states where funding increases did not keep up with inflation, the report says. In states where appropriations were equal to or greater than inflation, tuition rose 6.56 percent. Public colleges in states that provided less funding registered average tuition increases of 10.24 percent.

The study also found that institutions generally are dissatisfied with the state support they receive.

(As reported in the April 19, 1993 issue of “Higher Education and National Affairs.”)

How does TSUD compare to this study? Following two years of protest, TSUD raised its tuition by 10 percent for Fall Quarter 1992. However, graduate in-state tuition did not increase for that time period. Also, out-of-state tuition was waived for four counties in Georgia and three counties in Florida. Tuition for the Fall Quarter 1993 will be increased by 5 percent throughout the TSU System.

As far as dissatisfaction with state support, TSUD dropped from being funded at 48 percent of need in 1992-93 to being funded at 43 percent of need for 1993-94, the lowest in the state.

PRESIDENT’S MESSAGE

Dear Faculty and Staff:

Recently I reviewed the 1990 principles statement of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching encouraging campuses to undergird everyday decision-making with basic principles. Listed below are those rules:

1. A college or university is an educationally purposeful community, a place where faculty and students share academic goals and work together to strengthen teaching and learning on the campus.

2. A college or university is an open community, a place where freedom of expression is uncompromisingly protected and where civility is powerfully affirmed.

3. A college or university is a just community, a place where the sacredness of the person is honored and where diversity is aggressively pursued.

4. A college or university is a disciplined community, a place where individuals accept their obligations to the group and where well-defined governance procedures guide behavior for the common good.

5. A college or university is a caring community, a place where the well-being of each member is sensitively supported and where service to others is encouraged.

6. A college or university is a celebrative community, one in which the heritage of the institution is remembered and where rituals affirming both tradition and change are widely shared.

I assure you of my commitment to these basic standards, and I encourage you to reflect on how your words, actions, and deeds promote a sense of community at TSUD. With all of us living with these precepts, the teaching/learning environment at TSUD could be made even more special.

J.C. Lewis, Chairman

The Honors Convocation Committee met a 3:15 p.m., April 6, in the Conference Room of Malone Hall.
Mr. Lewis called the meeting to order and presented the student award nominations. He reported that arrangements will be made to assist anyone needing special attention during the convocation. The convocation will be videotaped. It was decided that the four Continuing Education Microcomputer Certificate Program students who have completed their certification be recognized and presented with a certificate. Because of the change in the quarters that commencement is now held, all graduates with honors from Summer Quarter 1992 through Spring Quarter 1993 will be asked to stand and be recognized.
The Committee selected the “Outstanding Classified Staff Award” recipient, and the faculty subcommittee selected the “Outstanding Professional Staff Award” recipient.

The Honors Convocation Committee met briefly at 3:15 p.m., April 20, 1993, in the Conference Room of Malone Hall.

Mr. Lewis called the meeting to order and announced that the purpose of the meeting was to select the “Outstanding Alumni Award.” Dr. Sublette submitted the alumni information and the committee selected the award recipient. Diana Parker announced that 607 personal invitations have been issued for this year’s convocation. Tony Whetstone reported that funds were available for purchasing additional plaques. It was recommended that plaques be awarded to the “Outstanding Adjunct Faculty Award” recipients. After a motion and a second, the motion carried unanimously.
